25X1

1. On 13 February 1954, the Nachrichtenschule (1521) in Koenigsbrueck was occupied. 25X1
Between 31 January and 13 February, an undetermined number of troops daily practiced firing with rifles and submachine guns and received instruction on 2 to 3 T-34 tanks in the Aue area.
 There was no training in the installation.
2. On 12 February, Altes Lager was occupied by about 120 troops wearing red-belted black epaulettes. On 8 and 11 February, 3 large tank cars with fuel arrived at the installation. On 12 February, 5 tank cars were observed in the camp. Trucks 25X1 picked up fuel drums at the installation.
3. On 13 February, the occupation of Neues Lager (1523) had decreased. Between 31 January and 13 February, firing with light and heavy guns and a few rocket launchers was repeatedly observed in the training area. 25X1

On 8 February, Highway No 97 was blocked near the Ottendorf-Okrilla railroad station. A column of light and medium AT guns, trucks and armored personnel carriers was seen en route toward Radeburg, coming from the direction of Radeberg.
4. On 31 January, a shipment of 22 AA guns was seen at the Koenigsbrueck railroad station, en route toward Dresden. On 3 February, 28 railroad cars carrying 7 presumably 76.2-mm AA guns and 19 trucks and several boxcars occupied by troops arrived at the Koenigsbrueck railroad station from the direction of Schwepnitz. 25X1
5. On 11 February, 2 T-34 tanks and T-34/85 passed the Koenigsbrueck railroad station, coming from the direction of Neues Lager and proceeding toward the training area. 25X1
6. Military shipments arriving at the Koenigsbrueck railroad station between 8 and 11 February, included:
